2019 Emerging Artists

Cambridge Art Association announces our annual emerging artists exhibit, July 2019

Cambridge, MA, June 21, 2019 —The Cambridge Art Association (CAA) is pleased to announce our 2019 Emerging Artists Exhibit, in our Kathryn Schultz Gallery. This exhibit was juried by Chanel Thervil, a Boston-based artist and arts educator, who is currently exhibiting work in the deCordova Biennial. The exhibit opens on July 9 at our Kathryn Schultz Gallery, and remains on view through July 26. An opening reception will be held on July 11, 6-9pm. This event is free and open to the public.

“They say the only consistent thing in life is change. As we strive to hold fast to precious moments and let go of hurt, the layers of change never get easier to navigate without the paradoxes of strength and fragility. As a complement to the full spectrum of colors that make our experiences vibrant, mood is often set by the juxtaposition of people, places, and objects that surround us. All of the works featured in this exhibition playfully exude the depth that accompanies the intersection of past, present and future through landscapes, abstraction, and figurative remixes of the familiar.” – Chanel Thervil

About the Cambridge Art Association: CAA was founded in 1944 by a group of local artists and art supporters. At the time, there was no other local association like it. The CAA was a space for exhibiting work, learning new techniques, and socializing. It was - and is - above all, a community of artists.

Today, the CAA maintains two gallery spaces for exhibits, as well as several less traditional satellite spaces. Until mid-2015, we were a juried members association. As the result of a strategic plan and long-term vision for the CAA, we are now open to all.

What do we do? We present roughly 20 gallery exhibits, and an additional 12 exhibits in our satellite spaces. We create opportunities for local and regional contemporary artists to engage with gallery owners, curators, collectors, and each other through networking events, portfolios reviews, and other professional development programs. We also operate an Art Rental Program, connecting artists to local organizations for short-and-long-term display of work.
