Cambridge Art Association announces four person exhibition, March 1 - 28, 2019

Cambridge, MA, February 18, 2019—The Cambridge Art Association (CAA) is pleased to announce Darker Joys, a Small Group Show featuring Katie Lane, Keith MacClelland, Stephanie Todhunter, and Amantha Tsaros. This exhibit is part of our Small Group Show series, an annual opportunity for members of the CAA to curate an exhibit of three or more artists. The exhibit opens on Friday, March 1, at our Kathryn Schultz Gallery, and remains on view through March 28, 2019. An opening reception will be held on Thursday, March 7, from 7-9pm.

In Darker Joys , the exhibiting artists invite visitors into their creative playground to revel in your base human instincts: a tangle expression of excess, a fearless exploration of medium and subject and an eagerness to surprise the viewer in ways both bold and subtle.

Reception: Thursday, March 7, 7-9pm

Workshop: Thursday, March 21, 7-8:30pm

Demo: Singularity Black, with artist Jason Chase, Artist in Residency at NanoLabs
Thursday, March 14, 6:30-8pm

About the Cambridge Art Association: CAA was founded in 1944 by a group of local artists and art supporters. At the time, there was no other local association like it. The CAA was a space for exhibiting work, learning new techniques, and socializing. It was - and is - above all, a community of artists.

Today, the CAA maintains two gallery spaces for exhibits, as well as several less traditional satellite spaces. Until mid-2015, we were a juried members association. As the result of a strategic plan and long-term vision for the CAA, we are now open to all.

What do we do? We present roughly 20 gallery exhibits, and an additional 20 exhibits in our satellite spaces. We create opportunities for local and regional contemporary artists to engage with gallery owners, curators, collectors, and each other through networking events, portfolios reviews, and other professional development programs. We also operate an Art Rental Program, connecting artists to local organizations for short-and-long-term display of work.
